A HOME INSPECTOR'S CREED

All good home inspection companies have a philosophy they follow that guides their home inspection and reporting process. Here is what we believe at Safe Harbor Inspections:

If someone orders an inspection, they have already picked a house, negotiated a deal, and are taking the next step towards the closing table. All this has taken place before we even get involved.

The buyer wants to buy the house, and the seller wants to sell the house. We don't want to stand in the way of the deal. Far from it. Rather, we want to help our clients by truthfully, thoroughly, and expeditiously convey our inspection findings in a balanced, clear, calm, and non-alarmist way.
