

Professional Property Inspections

NEWSLETTER

Multifamily Home Inspections

Multi-family home inspections are typically done for property investors.

Depending on the size of the structure(s), representative sampling plays a big role in determining the degree of detail in terms of items to be inspected. For example, representative sampling of the electrical outlets, windows, doors, and plumbing systems will be inspected.

This type of inspection is typically performed on behalf of the client to get a “big picture” perspective on the investment property. The degree of representative sampling will be discussed and agreed upon between the investor and Safe Harbor Inspections during the scheduling process.

If you are interested, all our previous newsletters are available on our website blog. Click on the following link and it will take you right to it.

<https://safeharborinspections.com/blog/>