

NEWSLETTER

SERVICE YOUR HEATING SYSTEM

As we head into the fall, it's a good idea to have your heating system serviced. If you don't have a service contract, we recommend getting one. Heating systems have many components that should be checked for proper operation and safety. Also, if your heating system is not serviced regularly, you may be paying extra for fuel because of poor performance. If your heating system is not serviced, it may be more prone to break down.

In addition, you may be very glad you have a service contract with a good HVAC (heating ventilation and air conditioning) company if your heating system fails in the dead of winter. Usually, if you have a service contract, you'll get fast service because you have an account. Without a service contract, you may get put at the bottom of the service list. Especially when it's very cold, because the heating company takes care of their existing customers first, especially if they're busy.

If you are interested, all our previous newsletters are available on our website blog. Click on the following link and it will take you right to it.

<https://safeharborinspections.com/blog/>